

France: A 90 year difference in land distribution

Among the many changes that occurred as a result of the French Revolution, the most notable change was the redistricting of lands. The below map displays 5 provinces from 1789 that were carved up and redistributed. These 5 provinces are superimposed on an 1879 historical map. The provinces noted below are: Normandie, Aunis, Auvergne, Franche Comte, and Dauphine. These lands were, as a result of the Revolution, redrawn and broken up into as many as 4 or 5 smaller areas.

0 100 200 300 400 miles

-- Historical Maps --

David Rumsey Map Collection. Digital Image. 1789 map of France. Accessed November 28, 2016. <http://www.davidrumsey.com>

David Rumsey Map Collection. Digital Image. 1879 map of France. Accessed November 28, 2016. <http://www.davidrumsey.com>

-- France (Spatial Data) --

DIVA-GIS: France - Administrative areas
<http://www.diva-gis.org/gdata>

DIVA-GIS: France - Railroads
<http://www.diva-gis.org/gdata>